The cooperative difference

by Craig Eccher

AS YOU LEAF through the next several pages of Penn Lines, you will see that we are seeking help locating former Tri-County members so that we can send them capital credit refund checks. If you are a newer member of the cooperative, you might be wondering what a capital credit check is and why we would be trying to track down members from 1983 in order to return money to them.

Allow me to explain. As you probably know, Tri-County is a non-profit organization owned by the people who receive electric service from us. In other words, if your name appears on the Tri-County electric bill each month, you are a part-owner of the utility.

You have likely noticed that we refer to those we provide power to as members, not customers. That's because members of a cooperative enjoy certain benefits that are foreign to customers of most investor-owned electric utilities. For instance, as a member of Tri-County, you can choose to run for a seat on the cooperative board of directors. If you don't want to actually run for a seat, you have the ability to vote for the board candidate that you wish to see represent your co-op district.

Your democratically elected directors are members just like you. They live and work in the community, and they have the same desire to keep the co-op's electric rates affordable for members.

As a not-for-profit business, the cooperative exists solely to provide members with economical, reliable electric service. There are years, however, when we collect more money than we spend. Those "profits," known as margins in the co-op world, are allocated back to members in the form of capital credits — another benefit unique to cooperatives.

The cooperative retains margins for a period of time — historically 20 to 25 years — to be used as working capital to assist in the financing of plant replacement and to build and maintain the electric system. When the co-op is financially able to do so, it retires margins by returning capital credits, also known as patronage capital, to members. The amount of the allocation to a member's account is based on that member's energy consumption for the retirement year.

At least once a year, your board of directors considers whether or not we will be able to retire margins and return money to members through the issuance of capital credit refunds.

In September, the Tri-County board approved the retirement of $200,000 worth of capital credits that had been allocated to members' accounts in 1983. As a result, those people who were members of the cooperative in 1983 and remain at the same account location received a credit on their electric bill. Former members and current members who have since moved were mailed paper checks.

The long list of member names on the following pages are those folks who were members in 1983 but for whom we no longer have an accurate address. Any assistance you can give us in locating these former members would be appreciated.

Given the challenging economic conditions of the past several years, I was very happy that the co-op was in a position to give money back to members. It reflects positively on the financial health of your electric cooperative, as well as the co-op board, management team and employees who work

Help us find unclaimed capital credits checks recipients

In November, Tri-County mailed nearly 8,000 capital credit retirement checks to former Tri-County members who received electric service in 1983.

Because of invalid addresses, the post office returned many of the checks to the cooperative. Please help us locate these people, so we can return their money.

We want to make sure these refunds go to their rightful owners. That's why we are asking you to please take a few minutes to scan through the following pages.

If you see a familiar name and know the individual's current address, please fill out the coupon and mail it to Tri-County Rural Electric Cooperative, Attn: Unclaimed Capital Credits, P.O. Box 526, Mansfield, PA 16933. You may also call us at 1-800-343-2559 or 570/662-2175 or send information electronically to billing@tri-countyrec.com.

I can help! I saw the following person's name in the unclaimed capital credits list in the February issue of Penn Lines. I believe the following information to be that individual's current mailing address:

FROM THE PRESIDENT/CEO

diligently to keep operating costs down over the course of the year.

I was also pleased that your board of directors opted to lower all current members' electric bills in December by reducing the cost of service charge by $15.25. This one-time rate reduction was a holiday gift to members that was possible because of better-than-expected financial results for the year.

Judging from the numerous thank-you letters, cards and emails that members sent, the rate reduction was very well received and appreciated. Some members pointed out how pleased they were to get something back from their utility. It's a great example of what sets cooperatives apart from other types of businesses. ☀

ENERGYmatters*

Microwaves save time and energy

Use your microwave oven for cooking whenever possible. Microwave ovens use 50 to 65 percent less energy than conventional ovens and do not heat up your house in the summer.

However, conventional ovens may be more appropriate for larger items when cooking time is increased.

There are three reasons microwaves ovens, which use the energy of high-frequency radio waves to heat food, save so much energy. First, they dramatically reduce cooking time. Second, the unit itself uses less energy than other appliances like a cooktop or oven would require. And third, they heat only the food, not the oven and the surroundings.

Spring Energy Fair
